

Today in Sunday School

Middle School

Youth Room, 9:45 - 10:45 AM

Many middle schoolers don't have a clear understanding of what respect means or how important it is. As you guide your students, remember that you can help them respect others and understand what it's like for others to respect them. Use this study to help students learn what respect looks like to God and to model it in their own relationships.

High School

Room 23, 9:45 - 10:45 AM

High school students have a strong desire to be respected. But they don't always translate that into showing respect for others. Also, students see relationships modeled on television, in movies, and in popular video games that often don't demonstrate respectful interaction. However, God's commandments show us a better way. This study can help students understand and apply God's rules of respect to their own relationships while showing them good reasons for following those rules.
