Service Reprise Today is the Day

God is always interested in our well-being, and our attitude toward money goes to the root of where our heart is with God.

A steward is the person who manages or cares for someone else's property. All of the earth belongs to God, but we have been given temporary care for the earth.

When we give, we’re giving to God. The very name of our church tells us that – this is the Church of the Good Shepherd. This place belongs to our Good Shepherd, our loving Lord.

John Wesley said, “Earn all you can, save all you can, give all you can.”

Jesus said we can’t serve both God and money. Our heart is the center of our being, and what we focus on will determine how balanced of a person we are. Jesus said that where our treasure is, that’s where our heart will be. If we love Jesus and we want to see ministry take place that helps further his kingdom, then that’s where our heart will be. Giving is about the health of our heart. And a heart that gives is a healthy heart.

- ◆ Giving is a joyful thing when we give freely.
- ◆ Giving is relational because giving strengthens our relationship with God - we are putting something into our relationship.
- ◆ We cannot out-give God’s love and God’s generosity. Giving is love.
- ◆ Giving is trust: when we give to God first, we are seeking God’s kingdom first, and trusting that God will meet all our needs. There is a peace and a joy that comes when we trust God in our giving.

- ◆ The record is clear - generous givers are typically more spiritually vigorous and happier than those who are not. Giving is spiritual!

"God loves a cheerful giver" and cheerful giving can only come from a heart set on things above, not on earthly things. That's a healthy heart.
